“Novelty and history are not antinomies if there is a system and a brand that guarantees such a union.”

Studio Gaeta provides tax and corporate consulting services and, by combining tradition and innovation, aims to be a precise point of reference for all customer needs, both individuals and companies. Each professional and employee working in the firm shares this philosophy, and the consulting activities are based on the synergy of different specialisations developed to support clients in their business decisions and development projects.

Our philosophy can be summed up in one key expression:

“The Client is at the centre of our activities.”

Our daily objective is to achieve the set goals with our clients. Through a continuous exchange of information between collaborators, employees and Clients, the firm works to build a personalised, highly professional and tailor-made relationship.

Our daily obligations and objectives are constant commitment, professionalism, prompt intervention, and precise and clear information. In keeping with this philosophy, over time, the firm has developed important links with other professionals and consultancy companies in order to guarantee a complete range of services: notarial, legal, financial and labour consultancy.
